

Rhonda Wood Smith Award Nomination

The Iowa League of Cities created the Rhonda Wood Smith Award to recognize exemplary work of young city officials and those new to city government. The intent of the award is to encourage and affirm participation in local government by young people who may make greater sacrifice for public service due to significant career and family commitments. Nominations may be made by any city official, a member of the Hall of Fame, a member of the Awards Committee, or a member of the League staff.
